Message to National Flood Insurance Program Claims Professionals

As our trusted industry partners, claims professionals are often the first representatives of the NFIP to engage with our policyholders on the worst day of their lives following a flood event. That is why we rely on you to bring your expertise to every interaction, displaying FEMA's core values of compassion, fairness, integrity, and respect.

The Federal Insurance Directorate is committed to reducing complexity for our policyholders and stakeholders. As part of the effort, we redesigned our NFIP Claims Manual so that it more clearly maps each step of the Claims Journey — from the time of loss through the resolution of the claim. It serves as a central source for both our customers and stakeholders, providing details and updates about the NFIP, the Standard Flood Insurance Policy, essential forms, coverage limits, claims processes, and much more, to ensure that you are equipped with the knowledge and tools to handle every claim with confidence.

We are making additional changes to help individuals and communities better prepare and recover from flood. We are enhancing the message to include more risk education information and using underwriting factors to encourage risk discussions with property owners. Finally, we are working with communities to help them better understand and mitigate evolving flood risks.

These efforts are intended to further the Federal Insurance Directorate's mission of providing customer-focused flood insurance to help survivors and their communities recover effectively from flood events. We know the secret to success is in the details. Paying attention to the details shows that we are invested in our policyholders' recovery, and it allows us to reduce disaster suffering.

I have full confidence that you will continue the high-quality service that our NFIP customers have come to expect. I am grateful for your work to help policyholders recover from flood losses, and I look forward to your continued commitment as we work together to build a safer, more resilient nation.
